The Volunteer Center believes that through volunteer service Gloucester County residents have the capacity to enrich their own lives and improve the quality of life in our community. Tips on Using Your Volunteer Time Wisely

1. Research the cause or issues important to you. Look for a group that works with issues for which you feel strongly. You will enjoy your experience and be more willing to participate freely, if the organization’s mission is important to you.

2. Consider the skills you have to offer. Enjoy outdoor work? Have a knack for teaching? Love interacting with people? Use the skills and interests you already have when volunteering.

3. Would you like to learn something new? Perhaps you would like to learn a new skill or gain exposure to a new situation. Volunteering could also offer a change from your daily routine.

4. Combine your goals. Look for volunteer opportunities that have the potential to help you achieve your goals for your life. Many people view volunteering as a way to meet new people as well as to give more meaning to their lives.

5. Don’t over-commit your schedule. Make sure the volunteer hours you want to give fit into your schedule. It does no good to exhaust yourself by trying to do too many things at once; it only results in shortchanging the organization you’re trying to help.

6. Non-profits may have questions, too. While most non-profits are eager to find volunteer help, they have to be careful when accepting the services you offer. If you contact an organization with an offer to donate your time, you may be asked to come in for interview, fill out a volunteer application, describe your qualifications and your background, just as you would at an interview for a paying job.

7. Give voice to your heart through your giving and volunteering! Bring your heart and your sense of humor to your volunteer service, along with your enthusiastic spirit, which in itself is a priceless gift. What you’ll get back will be immeasurable!
How You Can Make A Difference!

Why me...why now?

When you volunteer you are giving something back to your community by lending a helping hand to people and organizations. What you may not realize is that volunteering also benefits you as an individual. There are many good reasons to get involved in the community, including learning what you care about. There is no wrong way to volunteer. Take a look at the many ways you can volunteer and find out what volunteer opportunity interests you.

Caring for People

Seniors. Assist an elderly person living independently. Plan a craft session for seniors. Give a party. Bring your family pet for a visit to a nursing home resident. Arrange for an outing. Adopt a grandparent by regular visits with a senior who may not have many visitors. Be a lunch buddy. Make corsages or hand-crafted accessories. Create scrapbooks. Write letters or help residents send cards to loved ones. Arrange a youth history hour. Develop entertainment programs.

People with disabilities. Create cards. Assist in a group home for the disabled. Help out with everyday tasks or special events. Make a quilt or blanket. Provide small gifts, holiday surprises or baked goods to a family using hospice services. Run errands, collect the mail, deliver hot soup or homemade cookies, and stop by for a visit. Do whatever it takes to make a difference.

Hunger. Unload, pack food bags, sort, shelve, and distribute donated food at a local food bank.
Organize a neighborhood food drive. Ask all guests at a holiday party to bring items for food banks. Match sponsor families with needy families in rural areas of the United States. The sponsor family sends a box of food, clothing and other needed items once a month. Assemble birthday bags to donate to your local food pantry.

Poverty. Contact a homeless shelter. How can you help families residing there? Take children on field trips. Help a homeless family that has just found housing. Assist with parties, games, and special events.

Caring for the Environment. Plant and tend a vegetable garden. Celebrate Earth Day in April. Create a butterfly garden for a school or nonprofit organization. Clean-up a playground or park.

Caring for Animals. Donate supplies to an animal shelter. Take dogs in an animal shelter for a walk. Be a foster family to a pet awaiting adoption. Volunteer at a zoo or aquarium. Sponsor an animal at a local zoo.

Other Ways to Give Back

Walk-a-thons. Walk-a-thons raise millions of dollars for charities. Great for active people. A day out in the fresh air. Gather friends or co-workers and form a team. Name your team and set a fundraising goal. Volunteers are also needed to help make it happen!

Donate. Ask most nonprofit organizations what their most pressing problem is and they will answer not enough resources to accomplish their goals. Resources can mean many things, but most often it is money. Consider donating money to a favorite charity, participating in a fund raising event, or organizing your own fundraiser.

Volunteer Opportunities for Youth
Consider starting off volunteering for an environmental organization or an animal shelter. These organizations are always looking for young volunteers. Also, consider volunteering for Center for Family Services, Quixote Quest or Spanner. These organizations have volunteer opportunities exclusively for teenagers.

Volunteer Opportunities for Groups

Looking for volunteer opportunities for your family, local organization, college, or company? Many of the nonprofits in Gloucester County need group volunteers. Build a home with Habitat for Humanity. Stock shelves at the Food Bank of South Jersey. Volunteer with Bancroft by painting, landscaping, planning holiday parties, gardening, and helping other special events. If you find a nonprofit or volunteer opportunity that your group might be interested in, call the nonprofit to see if they need group volunteers.

Volunteerism in the workplace

As a corporate leader, you know that inspiring your employees to participate in community service not only helps the community in which you operate, but it’s simply good business. Whether your goal is a one-day project, a volunteer fair, or a long-term, sustainable EVP (Employee Volunteer Program), we will work with you to create a successful program that will match your mission and make a lasting impact in our community.
